CHINATOWN SURVEY AREA LAND USE REPORT

Abstract

This paper examines land use patterns in the central part of Boston's Chinatown neighborhood, dubbed the Chinatown Survey Area for the purposes of this study. Information on current land use patterns in the Chinatown Survey Area was compiled to serve as a baseline for the Chinatown Community Plan codeveloped by the Boston Redevelopment Authority and the Chinatown/South Cove Neighborhood Council. Information was obtained on a parcel-by-parcel basis from the City's Assessing Department, and supplemented by a survey of the area. This paper provides an analysis of the current land uses, ownership patterns and zoning in the Chinatown Survey Area.

Executive Summary

A report on land use and ownership patterns in the central portion of Boston's Chinatown Neighborhood was prepared to assist the development of the Chinatown Community Plan which is a joint effort between the Chinatown/South Cove Neighborhood Council and the Boston Redevelopment Authority. The report was prepared in conjunction with the Housing Conditions Survey, the Chinatown User Survey, and the Business/Employer Survey conducted jointly by the BRA Research Department, Neighborhood Housing and Development Department, and the Chinatown/South Cove Neighborhood Council.

The Chinatown Survey Area was defined as the twenty-eight block area which stretches from Essex Street to Marginal Road, and includes the Chinatown Neighborhood's central business and residential areas. This report includes basic parcel information on land uses, businesses and organizations, and ownership.

Findings

Land Uses. There are eight basic land uses in the Chinatown Survey Area. Ranked by percentage of the 1,396,742 square feet of parcel land area they cover, they are:

Mixed Uses:	37.0	percent of parcel area
Institutional:	24.0	" "
Commercial:	16.0	" "
Parking:	9.3	" "
Vacant:	5.8	" "
Residential:	5.1	" "
Industrial:	1.6	" "
Open Space:	1.1	" "

Ownership Patterns. Of three basic types of owners in the survey area, non-Asians own 46.16 percent of parcel area, Asians own 35.2 percent, and public agencies own 18.64 percent.

Institution Types. There are two types of institutions/organizations in the survey area, community-based, and non-community-based. Including Tufts/NEMC, there are 69 institutions or organizations in the area, of which 90 percent are community-based and 10 percent are non-community based.

Business Types. Seven types of business make up the 185 businesses in the survey area. Ranked by percent, they are:

Personal/Prof. Services:	29.1	percent of businesses
Restaurant/Bakery:	25.4	" "
Entertainment:	12.0	" "
Wholesale/Factory:	11.3	" "

Introduction

The information contained in this report is organized by individual property, or parcel. This parcel-by-parcel information was obtained through the City's Assessing Department and was verified and supplemented by a walking survey of the area. Listings of parcel information are presented in the appendices which follow the report.

Description of Area. The Chinatown Survey Area is a twenty-eight block area which stretches from Essex Street to the Massachusetts Turnpike, just south of Downtown Boston. Exhibit 1 locates the survey area in the context of Downtown Boston. As Exhibit 2 shows, the area is bounded by Essex Street, the Southeast Expressway, Hudson Street, Marginal Road, Tremont Street, Oak Street and Washington Street.

The Chinatown Survey Area encompasses the central area of Chinatown within the Downtown Interim Planning Overlay District (IPOD). The survey does not include the adjacent South End areas with significant Chinese populations.

The Chinatown Survey Area is a densely populated residential/ commercial neighborhood, which contains a mixture of small shops and businesses, residential developments, and industrial and institutional uses. The area occupies nearly 2 million square feet (46 acres) in total. It contains 366 parcels of land which occupy 1.4 million square feet (32 acres), not including street area, and holds 292 buildings. Appendix 1 provides a listing of parcels in the area.

This area contains the Chinatown Central Business Area north of Kneeland Street; the Chinatown Central Residential Area south of Kneeland Street; and it houses the Tufts-New England Medical Center between Kneeland, Tyler, Oak and Washington Streets.

Appendix One contains a parcel listing of the area, organized by street name and number. This appendix lists parcel address, owner, land square footage, use, parcel number and block number for each of the 366 parcels contained in the survey area.

Appendix Two contains the same information, but is organized by use. The use categories include:

1. residential

- apartment (five or more units)
- residential 1 (single- family dwelling)
- residential 2 (two-family dwelling)
- residential 3 (three-family dwelling)
- residential 4 (four-family dwelling)

2. institutional

- institutional/community
- institutional/non-community

3. commercial

Land Uses

Parcel land area in the Chinatown Survey Area is occupied by eight basic uses: residential, institutional, industrial, parking, vacant, open space, and mixed uses. Table 1 presents a breakdown of land uses by parcel square footage.

Exhibit 3 repeats this breakdown in graphical form. Appendix 2 presents a parcel listing by use.

Exhibit 3:

Residential uses, which occupy 71,277 parcel square feet, or 5.1 percent of total parcel area in the Chinatown Survey Area, consist of parcels which hold three- or four-floor apartment buildings or larger apartment complexes. Parcels which contain mixed-use residential/commercial or residential/institutional structures occupy an additional 394,988 square feet of space. Exhibit 4 locates residential, residential/commercial and residential/institutional uses on a map of the area.

Institutional/organizational uses, which occupy 335,749 parcel square feet, or 24 percent of total parcel area, consist of community and non-community organizations or institutions. Of this total, community organizations or institutions occupy parcels covering 62,727 square feet or 4.5 percent of total parcel area. Non-community organizations or institutions, of which Tufts/NEMC is the major landowner, occupy parcels containing 273,022 square feet, or 19.5 percent of total.

Community and non-community organizations and institutions were counted as part of the land use survey. A breakdown by organization is presented in Table 2. Appendix 5 contains a listing of institutions and organizations within the survey area. Community service organizations and non-profit institutions and churches are included in the institution/organization category.

As Table 2 shows, community organizations outnumber non-community organizations by a ratio of nearly 9 to 1. However, parcel land area devoted exclusively to institutional use reverses this scenario, as non-community organizations occupy over 4 times the parcel land area as community organizations do. This apparent discrepancy can be partially explained by the large land holdings of NEMC, a single non-community institution. In addition, while most of the non-community organizations and institutions are the single occupants of institutional sites, most of the community organizations and institutions located within the survey area occupy space in mixed use structures, which are not included in the institutional use area sum. Mixed use parcels of this type, which include institutional/commercial and residential/ institutional uses occupy an additional 330,990 square feet of parcel area.

Commercial uses, which occupy 223,762 parcel square feet, or 16.0 percent of total parcel area, consist of parcels which hold one- or two-story shops, restaurants, and larger office complexes. Mixed-use parcels which include commercial, including industrial/commercial and institutional/commercial occupy an additional 122,842 square feet.

Commercial uses in the Chinatown Survey Area serve both Chinatown residents and residents, Asian restaurants, and tourists from other parts of the city. The major commercial uses in the area consist of restaurants; bakeries; gift shops; groceries; personal/professional services including insurance, realty, legal, travel, hair care, clothing, cleaning, and medical services; wholesale suppliers; entertainment; and miscellaneous commercial uses. Table 3 presents a breakdown of business types by business establishment.

Exhibit 5 repeats this breakdown in graphical form. A preliminary business list is presented in Appendix 4.

Exhibit 5:

Industrial uses occupy 21,772 parcel square feet or 1.6 percent of total parcel area. Industrial uses in the area occupy six parcels in Chinatown's Central Business Area and consist of old manufacturing uses, predominantly in textiles. They are concentrated on Edinboro, Essex and Kneeland Streets. Several of the buildings on these parcels are in very poor shape, or are in the process of being rehabilitated. One parcel, which contains industrial and commercial uses, occupies an additional 8,841 square feet, or 0.6 percent of total area.

Parking occupies 130,326 parcel square feet, or 9.3 percent of total parcel area. Parking lots are scattered throughout the area. Most of the lots south of Kneeland Street are used by Tufts-New England Medical Center for employee, student and patient parking.

Vacant land or buildings occupy 80,453 parcel square feet, or 5.8 percent of total parcel area. Many of the vacant parcels in this area cover land which will be vacated by the Orange Line elevated rail.

Open space, which occupies 15,573 parcel square feet, or 1.1 percent of total parcel area, consists of several small parks and a number of community gardens which are located on formerly vacant land. The area as a whole, is dense, urban, and heavily populated, and has little greenery or open space.

Mixed uses, which occupy 517,830 parcel square feet, or 37.0 percent of total parcel area, consist of parcels which have mixed-use buildings. These uses consist of the following combinations:

residential/commercial, which consists of parcels with ground floor retail and upper floor residential, and occupies 177,999 parcel square feet or 12.7 percent of total area;

institutional/commercial, which consists of parcels with a mix of commercial and institutional or organizational uses, and occupies 114,001 parcel square feet or 8.2 percent of parcel area;

industrial/commercial, which consists of one parcel with a mix of industrial and commercial use, and occupies 8,841 square feet, or 0.6 percent of total area;

residential/institutional, which consists of parcels with a mix of residential and institutional or organizational uses, and occupies 216,989 parcel square feet or 15.5 percent of total area.

Zoning

The Chinatown Survey Area is zoned, M-8, B-4, B-4-U, B-8, B-8-U and B-10. Exhibit 6 displays these underlying zones on a map of the area. The M-8 zoning designation is an industrial designation, which allows light manufacturing and industry, and in which maximum floor space is equal to eight times the buildable land area. The B-4, B-8 and B-10 zones are business zones which allow maximum floor space of four, eight and ten times respectively the buildable land area. The U suffix refers to urban renewal.

These zones have been supplemented by the Downtown Interim Planning Overlay District (IPOD), which was recently promulgated and which sets out more restrictive allowances for development. The Chinatown Survey Area is located in a Restricted Growth Subdistrict, in which new building height is limited to 80 to 100 feet, about six to eight stories. The Floor Area Ratio (FAR) is limited to six to seven.

The Chinatown Central Business Area north of Kneeland Street has been designated the Chinatown Business District Housing Priority Area, and all new construction or rehabilitation is required to contain a minimum of 50 percent of gross floor area for residential use. In addition, residential uses are permitted in areas previously zoned for light manufacturing.

The Chinatown Central Residential Area south of Kneeland Street, falls within the Chinatown/Bay Village Housing Priority Area. In this area, all new construction or rehabilitation is required to contain a minimum of 75 percent of gross floor area for residential use. Exhibit 7 presents a map of Downtown IPOD zoning.

Ownership Patterns

Parcels in the Chinatown Survey Area are owned by twelve types of owners: private individuals, either Asian or non-Asian; private trusts, Asian or non-Asian; private corporations, Asian or non-Asian; public/BRA; public/City; other public agencies; Tufts/NEMC; and community organizations or services, Asian or non-Asian. Table 4 presents parcel square footage owned by each category of owner.

Infrastructure

The Chinatown Survey Area faces several infrastructure problems which may warrant further study. Narrow, congested streets often become clogged by trucks making or picking up deliveries. Garbage pickup, especially in the Central Business Area, does not seem to be often enough to meet the needs of the many restaurants, groceries and food wholesalers in the area. Some streets have drainage problems. Street pavement is not well-maintained in some areas. And, lighting remains inadequate in some areas.
